

THE INTERDICTION OF GAWKER MEDIA: CHARACTER ASSASSINS WHO GOT CAUGHT

The lawsuit speaks for itself:

"... Defendants took compensation for, and engaged in, malicious and coordinated tactics to seek to destroy, damage, harm and ruin Plaintiffs via an illicit media "hit-job" service which Defendants regularly offered in covert commerce and engaged in regularly against targets that Defendants were hired to seek to ruin as part of reprisal, vendetta, retribution programs operated for business and political competitors of the targets. Historical facts and other history-making lawsuits by third parties, has proven Defendants to be the single largest core violator of human rights, in this manner, in the world. Defendants offer the service of creating and publishing contrived "hatchet job" movies, fake news articles, faked comments and repercussion backlinks describing the Plaintiffs in horrific descriptors. The attack material is reposted, "impression accelerated", "click-farm fertilized" and Streisand array reposted by Defendants massive character assassination technology via servers, algorithms and manual technical internet manipulation, daily, as recently as yesterday. Defendants also embed the article in job hiring databases on Axiom, Palantir, Taleo and other databases used by all hiring and recruiting services in order to prevent Plaintiffs from ever receiving income for W2 or 1099 work ever again. Defendants own in-house staff then post thousands of fake comments, below each attack item, under fake names, designed to make it appear as if a broad consensus of the public agreed with the defamation messages by Defendants. Almost all of the fake comments were created by a handful of Defendants own staff pretending to be a variety of outside voices. Defendants replicated various versions of these attack items across all of their different brands and facade front publications and added additional fake comments to each on a regular basis..."

UNIVISION'S GAWKER, JALOPNIK, GIZMODO and a host of "Fake News" facades, owned by that tabloid publishing empire, set out to kill people by ending their lives with media tools and twisted young boys that Nick Denton scooped up off the streets of New York to place in his blogging den of violent and angry cabin boys.

Denton might not be winning pageview bets but he sure is still making plenty of enemies out of idiots!

(Do remember that "un-American" and "foreign accounts" are not entirely off-the-mark slurs to throw at a foreign-registered business run by a Hungarian citizen. Maybe Donna ought to stick to Perez Hilton! He might be among the most distasteful people on Earth but he's a US-born citizen!)

(Please re-post)

Here is an organization who engages in cultural and personal terrorism.

Type "gawker outs cia officers" into google and you will see that this drug-user tabloid takes pride in playing a game of exposing undercover intelligence and law enforcement officers, an act which can cost those officers their lives. Not the sort of game America should tolerate. These people are un-American.

The staff of Gawker have publicly admitted that they were hired to attend the Consumer Electronics Show in Las Vegas and sabotage the corporate exhibit booths in violation of the law.

This tabloid, Gawker Media, makes it's name out of being the first to show corporate prototypes. The staff of the tabloid try to get ahold of workers at technology companies and seek to influence them to lose "iphone" and other prototypes in public places where they can pick them up. Law enforcement believes that Jason Chen, Adrian Covert and Joe Brown, of Gawker, work together on this effort. The San Mateo Police Dept. has kicked in their staff's doors. Gabby Darbyshire of Gawker threatened to use legal and political intimidation to stall the San Mateo police department investigation.

They hack into phone systems and servers for their "scoops".

A hacker group has made a great showing of its recent break-ins to law enforcement computers. This group has deep roots and members around Gawker Media. Law enforcement suspects that at least one of the three names mentioned previously are members of this group.

The IRS is looking into a report that Nick Denton hides his money offshore and evades taxes with foreign accounts.

Gawker Founder Nick Denton Sits Down with NBC's 'Rock Center,' Where's BriWi?

Published: March 07, 2012 @ 9:31 am

Gawker editor A.J. Daulerio already revealed the Brian Williams-Nick Denton bromance in January, so color us surprised that Williams skipped out on the chance to interview the Gawker Media founder for Wednesday's "Rock Center."

Instead, NBC employed Jamie Gangel – an award-winning correspondent in her own right – who sat down with Denton to talk about his "snarky," "sexual," "shameless" and "mean" websites.

Denton accepted all of those adjectives – though he said Gawker is only occasionally mean.

None of this sounds new. Denton wrote in a recent staff email that the Gawker Media sites, which include Deadspin, Gizmodo, the flagship and others, "oversell." He has made no secret of his willingness to publish "salacious scoops" or "rumors."

"We publish faster, change faster, correct faster and, frankly, our standards of publication are lower," he told Gangel.

That last bit is the only part that still ruffles some people, but by the May empire's 20 million monthly readers, it's hard to wind.

What we really want to know is what Denton makes of the interview.

Williams has already told Denton what he thinks about Gawker, sending him an e-mail about the site's coverage of Lana Del Rey's performance on "Saturday Night Live." Because Gawker published that e-mail, we know Williams is a "loyal customer" of the site but thinks that the "weekends have been allowed to go awfully fallow." At least that was the word in January.

So when does Denton give Williams his March report card?
