

Senators Dianne Feinstein,
Kamala Harris, Harry Reid,
Nancy Pelosi, Barbara Boxer, Jerry Brown and their associates, raped their constituents as they stole money from them in the Dept.
of Energy Cleantech Crash and cashed in on stock market rigging.

Then they went about trying to kill the careers and brands of those who caught them.
They thought they were untouchable. They are not!

Demand their arrest and prosecution. Expose them!

 Corruption

HOW DID THESE PEOPLE TURN FROM OUR PUBLIC SERVANT EMPLOYEES TO THE ABUSERS OF THE PUBLIC TRUST AND CORRUPT CRIMINALS?

- They took bribes in the form of stocks from Google, Facebook, Tesla, Solyndra, Twitter, Uranium1 and other dirty tech companies in exchange for rigging the system for those companies and against everyone else.
- They blocked taxpayer access to the Courts and the jury trial system so that no member of the public could sue for their rights.
- They controlled compromised Court Judges and had their families working in the Courts.
- They ordered, and co-sponsored "hit jobs" and character assassinations on any member of the public who spoke out.
- They ran covert offshore accounts, hidden family trusts and shell corporations to hide their ill-gotten gains.
- They made laws and policies which were simply facades to put cash in the pockets of their spouses and families.
- They worked with social media companies to rig elections and to lie about non-existent voters used to swell vote counts.

- They cut off funding to the competitors of their financiers and routed billions of dollars in crony contracts to those financiers.
- They gave billions of EXCLUSIVE dollars of tax breaks, credits, fee waivers and real estate to Tesla and Solyndra which THEY OWNED THE PROFIT ROUTES OF!
- They turned the Dept. of Energy, EPA and DOT into their own private piggy bank as crony slush-funds.
- They had all of the top officials at DOJ and the FBI replaced with their corrupt insiders to control the cover-ups.
- They used corrupt law firms like Latham/Watkins; Perkins/Coie; Wilson/Sonsini to conduit dirty cash and launder money.
- They used character assassins: Fusion GPS, Gawker, Gizmodo, Jalopnik, Google, In-Q-Tel, New America, YouTube, CrowdStrike, ANTIFA, Kroll, Black Cube, Media Matters, Podesta Group, Stratfor, CNN, Sandline and other "Kill-Orgs".
- They engaged in sexual abuse, sextortion and sexual power deviancy groups and cultures.
- They operated bribe chains involving event tickets, real estate, sex, stock market pump-and-dumps, search engine rigging, etc.
- They used covert holdings to profit from government grants and contracts that they hard-wired for themselves and friends.
- They ordered the stone-walling of all investigations and shredded or bottom-drawer hid all investigation requests.
- They ran funding black-lists via their Silicon Valley venture capital campaign finance Cartel, ie: Kleiner, Greylock, USVC, etc.
- They had government benefits frozen, or denied, in order to harm their enemies.

- They turned politics into an Al Capone-like organized crime free-for-all and ruined the domestic representative system.
- and hundreds of other crimes and illicit actions...

THE DNC'S CHARACTER ASSASSINATION TEAM - THIS IS HOW THE DNC GOONS ATTACK YOU:

Marc Elias, a lawyer representing the Clinton campaign and the DNC, retained Fusion GPS, a Washington, D.C., firm, to conduct the research. Fusion GPS hired dossier author Christopher Steele, a former British intelligence officer with ties to the FBI and the U.S. intelligence community.

Elias and his law firm, Seattle-based Perkins Coie, retained the firm in April 2016 on behalf of the Clinton campaign and the DNC. Before that agreement, Fusion GPS' research into Trump was funded by a still unknown Republican client during the GOP primary.

The Clinton campaign and the DNC, through the law firm, continued to fund Fusion GPS' research through the end of October 2016, days before Election Day.

Fusion GPS gave Steele's reports and other research documents to Elias, the people familiar with the matter said. It is unclear how or how much of that information was shared with the campaign and DNC, and who in those organizations was aware of the roles of Fusion GPS and Steele.

This character assassination dossier has become a lightning rod amid the investigations into the Trump campaign's possible connections to Russia.

Trump tweeted as recently as Saturday that the Justice Department and FBI should "immediately release who paid for it."

Steele previously worked in Russia for British intelligence. The dossier is a compilation of reports he prepared for Fusion. The dossier alleged the Russian government collected compromising information about Trump and the Kremlin was engaged in an active effort to assist his campaign for president.

U.S. intelligence agencies later released a public assessment, which asserted that Russia intervened in the 2016 election to aid Trump. The FBI has been investigating whether any Trump associates helped the Russians.

Trump has adamantly denied the allegations and has dismissed the FBI probe as a witch hunt.

Fusion GPS' work researching Trump began during the Republican presidential primaries when the GOP donor paid for the firm to investigate.

When the Republican donor stopped paying for the research, Elias, acting on behalf of the Clinton campaign and the DNC, agreed to pay for the work to continue.

The Clinton campaign paid Perkins Coie $5.6 million in legal fees from June 2015 to December 2016, according to campaign-finance records, and the DNC paid the firm $3.6 million in "legal and compliance consulting" since Nov. 2015 — though it's impossible to tell how much of that work was for other legal matters and how much of it related to Fusion GPS.

After the election, the FBI agreed to pay Steele to continue gathering intelligence, but the bureau pulled out of the arrangement after Steele was publicly identified.

Fusion GPS is only one of over 40 attack services which Senators and DNC operatives hire to destroy their constituents. Black Cube, Stratfor, In-Q-Tel, Kroll, Podesta Group, Sandline and other covert companies take money and stock in exchange "killing" people. The Weinstein case is a classic example of the usual DNC character assassination teams doing the usual heinous deeds to innocent members of the public in this report by Rowan Farrow:

In the fall of 2016, top DNC financier Harvey Weinstein set out to suppress allegations that he had sexually harassed or assaulted numerous women. He began to hire private security agencies to collect information on the women and the journalists trying to expose the allegations. According to dozens of pages of documents, and seven people directly involved in the effort, the firms that Weinstein hired included Kroll, which is one of the world's largest corporate-intelligence companies, and Black Cube, an enterprise run largely by former officers of Mossad and other Israeli intelligence agencies. Black Cube, which has branches in Tel Aviv, London, and Paris, offers its clients the skills of operatives "highly experienced and trained in Israel's elite military and governmental intelligence units," according to its literature.

Two private investigators from Black Cube, using false identities, met with the actress Rose McGowan, who eventually publicly accused Weinstein of rape, to extract information from her. One of the investigators pretended to be a women's-rights advocate and secretly recorded at least four meetings with McGowan. The same operative, using a different false identity and implying that she had an allegation against Weinstein, met twice with a journalist to find out which women were talking to the press. In other cases, journalists directed by Weinstein or the private investigators interviewed women and reported back the details.

The explicit goal of the investigations, laid out in one contract with Black Cube, signed in July, was to stop the publication of the abuse allegations against Weinstein that eventually emerged in the New York Times and The New Yorker. Over the course of a year, Weinstein had the agencies "target," or collect information on, dozens of individuals, and compile psychological profiles that sometimes focussed on their personal or sexual histories. Weinstein monitored the progress of the investigations personally. He also enlisted former employees from his film enterprises to join in the effort, collecting names and placing calls that, according to some sources who received them, felt intimidating.

In some cases, the investigative effort was run through Weinstein's lawyers, including David Boies, a celebrated attorney who represented Al Gore in the 2000 Presidential-election dispute and argued for marriage equality before the U.S. Supreme Court. Boies personally signed the contract directing Black Cube to attempt to uncover information that would stop the publication of a Times story about Weinstein's abuses, while his firm was also representing the Times, including in a libel case.

Boies confirmed that his firm contracted with and paid two of the agencies and that investigators from one of them sent him reports, which were then passed on to Weinstein. He said that he did not select the firms or direct the investigators' work. He also denied that the work regarding the Times story represented a conflict of interest. Boies said that his firm's involvement with the investigators was a mistake. "We should not have been contracting with and paying investigators that we did not select and direct," he told me. "At the time, it seemed a reasonable accommodation for a client, but it was not thought through, and that was my mistake. It was a mistake at the time."

Techniques like the ones used by the agencies on Weinstein's behalf are almost always kept secret, and, because such relationships are often run through law firms, the investigations are theoretically protected by attorney-client privilege, which could prevent them from being disclosed in court. The documents and sources reveal the tools and tactics available to powerful individuals to suppress negative stories and, in some cases, forestall criminal investigations.

In a statement, Weinstein's spokesperson, Sallie Hofmeister, said, "It is a fiction to suggest that any individuals were targeted or suppressed at any time."

In May, 2017, McGowan received an e-mail from a literary agency introducing her to a woman who identified herself as Diana Filip, the deputy head of sustainable and responsible investments at Reuben Capital Partners, a London-based wealth-management firm. Filip told McGowan that she was launching an initiative to combat discrimination against women in the workplace, and asked McGowan, a vocal women's-rights advocate, to speak at a gala kickoff event later that year. Filip offered McGowan a fee of sixty thousand dollars. "I understand that we have a lot in common," Filip wrote to McGowan before their first meeting, in May, at the Peninsula Hotel in Beverly Hills. Filip had a U.K. cell-phone number, and she spoke with what McGowan took to be a German accent. Over the following months, the two women met at least three more times at hotelbars in Los Angeles and New York and other locations. "I took her to the Venice boardwalk and we had ice cream while we strolled," McGowan told me, adding that Filip was "very kind." The two talked at length about issues relating to women's empowerment. Filip also repeatedly told McGowan that she wanted to make a significant investment in McGowan's production company.

Filip was persistent. In one e-mail, she suggested meeting in Los Angeles and then, when McGowan said she would be in New York, Filip said she could meet there just as easily. She also began pressing McGowan for information. In a conversation in July, McGowan revealed to Filip that she had spoken to me as part of my reporting on Weinstein. A week later, I received an e-mail from Filip asking for a meeting and suggesting that I join her campaign to end professional discrimination against women. "I am very impressed with your work as a male advocate for gender equality, and believe that you would make an invaluable addition to our activities," she wrote, using her wealth-management firm's e-mail address. Unsure of who she was, I did not respond.

Filip continued to meet with McGowan. In one meeting in September, Filip was joined by another Black Cube operative, who used the name Paul and claimed to be a colleague at Reuben Capital Partners. The goal, according to two sources with knowledge of the effort, was to pass McGowan to another operative to extract more information. On October 10th, the day The New Yorker published my story about Weinstein, Filip reached out to McGowan in an e-mail. "Hi Love," she wrote. "How are you feeling? . . . Just wanted to tell you how brave I think you are." She signed off with an "xx." Filip e-mailed McGowan as recently as October 23rd.

In fact, "Diana Filip" was an alias for a former officer in the Israeli Defense Forces who originally hailed from Eastern Europe and was working for Black Cube, according to three individuals with knowledge of the situation. When I sent McGowan photos of the Black Cube agent, she recognized her instantly. "Oh my God," she wrote back. "Reuben Capital. Diana Filip. No fucking way."

Ben Wallace, a reporter at New York who was pursuing a story on Weinstein, said that the same woman met with him twice last fall. She identified herself only as Anna and suggested that she had an allegation against Weinstein. When I presented Wallace with the same photographs of Black Cube's undercover operative, Wallace recalled her vividly. "That's her," he said. Like McGowan, Wallace said that the woman had what he assumed to be a German accent, as well as a U.K. cell-phone number. Wallace told me that Anna first contacted him on October 28, 2016, when he had been working on the Weinstein story for about a month and a half. Anna declined to disclose who had given her Wallace's information. Over the course of the two meetings, Wallace grew increasingly suspicious of her motives. Anna seemed to be pushing him for information, he recalled, “about the status and scope of my inquiry, and about who I might be talking to, without giving me any meaningful help or information.” During their second meeting, Anna requested that they sit close together, leading Wallace to suspect that she might be recording the exchange. When she recounted her experiences with Weinstein, Wallace said, “it seemed like soap-opera acting.” Wallace wasn’t the only journalist the woman contacted. In addition to her e-mails to me, Filip also e-mailed Jodi Kantor, of the Times, according to sources involved in the effort.

The U.K. cell-phone numbers that Filip provided to Wallace and McGowan have been disconnected. Calls to Reuben Capital Partners’ number in London went unanswered. As recently as Friday, the firm had a bare-bones Web site, with stock photos and generic text passages about asset management and an initiative called Women in Focus. The site, which has now been taken down, listed an address near Piccadilly Circus, operated by a company specializing in shared office space. That company said that it had never heard of Reuben Capital Partners. Two sources with knowledge of Weinstein’s work with Black Cube said that the firm creates fictional companies to provide cover for its operatives, and that Filip’s firm was one of them.

Black Cube declined to comment on the specifics of any work it did for Weinstein. The agency said in a statement, “It is Black Cube’s policy to never discuss its clients with any third party, and to never confirm or deny any speculation made with regard to the company’s work. Black Cube supports the work of many leading law firms around the world, especially in the US, gathering evidence for complex legal processes, involving commercial disputes, among them uncovering negative campaigns. . . . It should be highlighted that Black Cube applies high moral standards to its work, and operates in full compliance with the law of any jurisdiction in which it operates—strictly following the guidance and legal opinions provided by leading law firms from around the world.” The contract with the firm also specified that all of its work would be obtained “by legal means and in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations.”

Last fall, Weinstein began mentioning Black Cube by name in conversations with his associates and attorneys. The agency had made a name for itself digging up information for companies in Israel, Europe, and the U.S. that led to successful legal judgments against business rivals. But the firm has also faced legal questions about its employees’ use of fake identities and other tactics. Last year, two of its investigators were arrested in Romania on hacking charges. In the end, the company reached an agreement with the Romanian authorities, under which the operatives admitted to hacking and were released. Two sources familiar with the agency defended its decision to work for Weinstein, saying that they originally believed that the assignment focused on his business rivals. But even the earliest lists of names that Weinstein provided to Black Cube included actresses and journalists.

On October 28, 2016, Boies’s law firm, Boies Schiller Flexner, wired to Black Cube the first hundred thousand dollars, toward what would ultimately be a six-hundred-thousand-dollar invoice. (The documents do not make clear how much of the invoice was paid.) The law firm and Black Cube signed a contract that month and several others later. One, dated July 11, 2017, and bearing Boies’s signature, states that the project’s “primary objectives” are to “provide intelligence which will help the Client’s efforts to completely stop the publication of a new negative article in a leading NY newspaper” and to “obtain additional content of a book which currently being written and includes harmful negative information on and about the Client,” who is identified as Weinstein in multiple documents. (In one e-mail, a Black Cube executive asks lawyers retained by the agency to refer to Weinstein as “the end client” or “Mr. X,” noting that referring to him by name “will make him extremely angry.”) The article mentioned in the contract was, according to three sources, the story, that ultimately ran in the Times on October 5th. The book was “Brave,” a memoir by McGowan, scheduled for publication by Harper Collins in January. The documents show that, in the end, the agency delivered to Weinstein more than a hundred pages of transcripts and descriptions of the book, based on tens of hours of recorded conversations between McGowan and the female private investigator.

Read

The contract between a private security firm and one of Harvey Weinstein’s lawyers.

Weinstein’s spokesperson, Hofmeister, called “the assertion that Mr. Weinstein secured any portion of a book . . . false and among the many inaccuracies and wild conspiracy theories promoted in this article.”

The July agreement included several “success fees” if Black Cube met its goals. The firm would receive an additional three hundred thousand dollars if the agency “provides intelligence which will directly contribute to the efforts to completely stop the Article from being published at all in any shape or form.” Black Cube would also be paid fifty thousand dollars if it secured “the other half” of McGowan’s book “in readable book and legally admissible format.”

The contracts also show some of the techniques that Black Cube employs. The agency promised “a dedicated team of expert intelligence officers that will operate in the USA and any other necessary country,” including a project manager, intelligence analysts, linguists, and “Avatar Operators” specifically hired to create fake identities on social media, as well as “operations experts with extensive experience in social engineering.” The agency also said that it would provide “a full time agent by the name of ‘Anna’ (hereinafter ‘the Agent’), who will be based in New York and Los Angeles as per the Client’s instructions and who will be available full time to assist the Client and his attorneys for the next four months.” Four sources with knowledge of Weinstein’s work with Black Cube confirmed that this was the same woman who met with McGowan and Wallace.

Black Cube also agreed to hire “an investigative journalist, as per the Client request,” who would be required to conduct ten interviews a month for four months and be paid forty thousand dollars. Black Cube agreed to “promptly report to the Client the results of such interviews by the Journalist.”

In January, 2017, a freelance journalist called McGowan and had a lengthy conversation with her that he recorded without telling her; he subsequently communicated with Black Cube about the interviews, though he denied he was reporting back to them in a formal capacity. He contacted at least two other women with allegations against Weinstein, including the actress Annabella Sciorra, who later went public in The New Yorker with a rape allegation against Weinstein. Sciorra, whom he called in August, said that she found the conversation suspicious and got off the phone as quickly as possible. “It struck me as B.S.,” she told me. “And it scared me that Harvey was testing to see if I would talk.” The freelancer also placed calls to Wallace, the New York reporter, and to me.

Two sources close to the effort and several documents show that the same freelancer received contact information for actresses, journalists, and business rivals of Weinstein from Black Cube, and that the agency ultimately passed summaries of those interviews to Weinstein’s lawyers. When contacted about his role, the freelancer, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said that he had been working on his own story about Weinstein, using contact information fed to him by Black Cube. The freelancer said that he reached out to other reporters, one of whom used material from his interviews, in the hopes of helping to expose Weinstein. He denied that he was paid by Black Cube or Weinstein.

Weinstein also enlisted other journalists to uncover information that he could use to undermine women with allegations. A December, 2016, e-mail exchange between Weinstein and Dylan Howard, the chief content officer of American Media Inc., which publishes the National Enquirer, shows that Howard shared with Weinstein material obtained by one of his reporters, as part of an effort to help Weinstein disprove McGowan's allegation of rape. In one e-mail, Howard sent Weinstein a list of contacts. "Let's discuss next steps on each," he wrote. After Weinstein thanked him, Howard described a call that one of his reporters made to Elizabeth Avellan, the ex-wife of the director Robert Rodriguez, whom Rodriguez left to have a relationship with McGowan.

Avellan told me that she remembered the interview. Howard's reporter "kept calling and calling and calling," she said, and also contacted others close to her. Avellan finally called back, because "I was afraid people might start calling my kids." In a long phone call, the reporter pressed her for unflattering statements about McGowan. She insisted that the call be off the record, and the reporter agreed. The reporter recorded the call, and subsequently passed the audio to Howard.

In subsequent e-mails to Weinstein, Howard said, "I have something AMAZING . . . eventually she laid into Rose pretty hard." Weinstein replied, "This is the killer. Especially if my fingerprints are not on this." Howard then reassured Weinstein, "They are not. And the conversation . . . is RECORDED." The next day, Howard added, in another e-mail, "Audio file to follow." (Howard denied sending the audio to Weinstein.) Avellan told me that she would not have agreed to cooperate in efforts to discredit McGowan. “I don’t want to shame people,” she said. “I wasn’t interested. Women should stand together.”

In a statement, Howard said that, in addition to his role as the chief content officer at American Media Inc., the National Enquirer’s publisher, he oversaw a television-production agreement with Weinstein, which has since been terminated. He said that, at the time of the e-mails, “absent a corporate decision to terminate the agreement with The Weinstein Company, I had an obligation to protect AMI’s interests by seeking out—but not publishing—truthful information about people who Mr. Weinstein insisted were making false claims against him. To the extent I provided ‘off the record’ information to Mr. Weinstein about one of his accusers—at a time when Mr. Weinstein was denying any harassment of any woman—it was information which I would never have allowed AMI to publish on the internet or in its magazines.” Although at least one of Howard’s reporters made calls related to Weinstein’s investigations, Howard insisted that he strictly divided his work with Weinstein from his work as a journalist. “I always separated those two roles carefully and completely—and resisted Mr. Weinstein’s repeated efforts to have AMI titles publish favorable stories about him or negative articles about his accusers,” Howard said. An A.M.I. representative noted that, at the time, Weinstein insisted that the encounter was consensual, and that the allegations were untrue.

Hofmeister, Weinstein’s spokesperson, added, “In regard to Mr. Howard, he has served as the point person for American Media’s long-standing business relationship with The Weinstein Company. Earlier this year, Mr. Weinstein gave Mr. Howard a news tip that Mr. Howard agreed might make a good story. Mr. Howard pursued the tip and followed up with Mr. Weinstein as a courtesy, but declined to publish any story.”

Weinstein’s relationship with Kroll, one of the other agencies he contracted with, dates back years. After Ambra Battilana Gutierrez, an Italian model, accused Weinstein of sexually assaulting her, in 2015, she reached a settlement with Weinstein that required her to surrender all her personal devices to Kroll, so that they could be wiped of evidence of a conversation in which Weinstein admitted to groping her. A recording of that exchange, captured during a police sting operation, was released by The New Yorker last month.

During the more recent effort to shut down emerging stories, Kroll again played a central role. E-mails show that Dan Karson, the chairman of Kroll Americas' Investigations and Disputes practice, contacted Weinstein at his personal e-mail address with information about women with allegations. In one October, 2016, e-mail, Karson sent Weinstein eleven photographs of McGowan and Weinstein together at different events in the years after he allegedly assaulted her. Three hours later, Weinstein forwarded Karson's e-mail to Boies and Weinstein's criminal-defense attorney, Blair Berk, and told them to "scroll thru the extra ones." The next morning, Berk replied that one photo, which showed McGowan warmly talking with Weinstein, "is the money shot."

Berk defended her actions. "Any criminal-defense lawyer worth her salt would investigate unproven allegations to determine if they are credible," she said. "And it would be dereliction of duty not to conduct a public-records search for photographs of the accuser embracing the accused taken after the time of the alleged assault."

Another firm, the Los Angeles-based PSOPS, and its lead private investigator, Jack Palladino, as well as another one of its investigators, Sara Ness, produced detailed profiles of various individuals in the saga, sometimes of a personal nature, which included information that could be used to undermine their credibility. One report on McGowan that Ness sent to Weinstein last December ran for more than a hundred pages and featured McGowan's address and other personal information, along with sections labelled “Lies/Exaggerations/Contradictions,” “Hypocrisy,” and “Potential Negative Character Wits,” an apparent abbreviation of “witnesses.” One subhead read “Past Lovers.” The section included details of acrimonious breakups, mentioning Avellan, and discussed Facebook posts expressing negative sentiments about McGowan. (Palladino and Ness did not respond to multiple requests for comment.)

Other firms were also involved in assembling such profiles, including ones that focused on factors that, in theory, might make women likely to speak out against sexual abuse. One of the other firm’s profiles was of Rosanna Arquette, an actress who later, in The New Yorker, accused Weinstein of sexual harassment. The file mentions Arquette’s friendship with McGowan, social-media posts about sexual abuse, and the fact that a family member had gone public with an allegation that she had been molested as a child.

All of the security firms that Weinstein hired were also involved in trying to ferret out reporters’ sources and probe their backgrounds. Wallace, the reporter for New York, said that he was suspicious when he received the call from the Black Cube operative using the pseudonym Anna, because Weinstein had already requested a meeting with Wallace; Adam Moss, the editor-in-chief of New York; David Boies; and a representative from Kroll. The intention, Wallace assumed, was to “come in with dossiers slagging various women and me.” Moss declined the meeting.

In a series of e-mails sent in the weeks before Wallace received the call from Anna, Dan Karson, of Kroll, sent Weinstein preliminary background information on Wallace and Moss. “No adverse information about Adam Moss so far (no libel/defamation cases, no court records or judgments/liens/UCC, etc.),” Karson wrote in one e-mail. Two months later, Palladino, the PSOPS investigator, sent Weinstein a detailed profile of Moss. It stated, “Our research did not yield any promising avenues for the personal impeachment of Moss.”

Similar e-mail exchanges occurred regarding Wallace. Kroll sent Weinstein a list of public criticisms of Wallace's previous reporting and a detailed description of a U.K. libel suit filed in response to a book he wrote, in 2008, about the rare-wine market. PSOPS also profiled Wallace's ex-wife, noting that she "might prove relevant to considerations of our response strategy when Wallace's article on our client is finally published."

In January, 2017, Wallace, Moss, and other editors at New York decided to shelve the story. Wallace had assembled a detailed list of women with allegations, but he lacked on-the-record statements from any victims. Wallace said that the decision not to run a story was made for legitimate journalistic reasons. Nevertheless, he said, "There was much more static and distraction than I've encountered on any other story."

Other reporters were investigated as well. In April, 2017, Ness, of PSOPS, sent Weinstein an assessment of my own interactions with "persons of interest"—a list largely consisting of women with allegations, or those connected to them. Later, PSOPS submitted a detailed report focusing jointly on me and Jodi Kantor, of the Times. Some of the observations in the report are mundane. "Kantor is NOT following Ronan Farrow," it notes, referring to relationships on Twitter. At other times, the report reflects a detailed effort to uncover sources. One individual I interviewed, and another whom Kantor spoke to in her separate endeavor, were listed as having reported the details of the conversations back to Weinstein.

For years, Weinstein had used private security agencies to investigate reporters. In the early aughts, as the journalist David Carr, who died, or was murdered, in 2015, worked on a report on Weinstein for New York, Weinstein assigned Kroll to dig up unflattering information about him, according to a source close to the matter. Carr's widow, Jill Rooney Carr, told me that her husband believed that he was being surveilled, though he didn't know by whom. "He thought he was being followed," she recalled. In one document, Weinstein's investigators wrote that Carr had learned of McGowan's allegation in the course of his reporting. Carr "wrote a number of critical/unflattering articles about HW over the years," the document says, "none of which touched on the topic of women (due to fear of HW's retaliation, according to HW)."

Weinstein's relationships with the private investigators were often routed through law firms that represented him. This is designed to place investigative materials under the aegis of attorney-client privilege, which can prevent the disclosure of communications, even in court.

David Boies, who was involved in the relationships with Black Cube and PSOPS, was initially reluctant to speak with The New Yorker, out of concern that he might be "misinterpreted either as trying to deny or minimize mistakes that were made, or as agreeing with criticisms that I don't agree are valid."

But Boies did feel the need to respond to what he considered "fair and important" questions about his hiring of investigators. He said that he did not consider the contractual provisions directing Black Cube to stop the publication of the Times story to be a conflict of interest, because his firm was also representing the newspaper in a libel suit. From the beginning, he said, he advised Weinstein "that the story could not be stopped by threats or influence and that the only way the story could be stopped was by convincing the Times that there was no rape." Boies told me he never pressured any news outlet. "If evidence could be uncovered to convince the Times the charges should not be published, I did not believe, and do not believe, that that would be averse to the Times' interest."

He conceded, however, that any efforts to profile and undermine reporters, at the Times and elsewhere, were problematic. "In general, I don't think it's appropriate to try to pressure reporters," he said. "If that did happen here, it would not have been appropriate."

Although the agencies paid by his firm focused on many women with allegations, Boies said that he had only been aware of their work related to McGowan, whose allegations Weinstein denied. “Given what was known at the time, I thought it was entirely appropriate to investigate precisely what he was accused of doing, and to investigate whether there were facts that would rebut those accusations,” he said.

Of his representation of Weinstein in general, he said, “I don’t believe former lawyers should criticize former clients.” But he expressed regrets. “Although he vigorously denies using physical force, Mr. Weinstein has himself recognized that his contact with women was indefensible and incredibly hurtful,” Boies told me. “In retrospect, I knew enough in 2015 that I believe I should have been on notice of a problem, and done something about it. I don’t know what, if anything, happened after 2015, but to the extent it did, I think I have some responsibility. I also think that if people had taken action earlier it would have been better for Mr. Weinstein.”

Weinstein also drafted individuals around him into his efforts—willingly and not. In December, 2016, Weinstein asked the actress Asia Argento, who ultimately went public in The New Yorker with her allegation of rape against Weinstein, to meet in Italy with his private investigators to give testimony on his behalf. Argento, who felt pressure to say yes, declined after her partner, the chef and television personality Anthony Bourdain, advised her to avoid the meeting. Another actress, who declined to be named in this story, said that Weinstein asked her to meet with reporters to extract information about other sources.

Weinstein also enlisted two former employees, Denise Doyle Chambers and Pamela Lubell, in what turned out to be an effort to identify and call people who might speak to the press about their own, or others’, allegations. Weinstein secretly shared the lists they compiled with Black Cube.

Hofmeister, speaking on Weinstein's behalf, said, "Any 'lists' that were prepared included names of former employees and others who were relevant to the research and preparation of a book about Miramax. Former employees conducting interviews for the book reported receiving unwanted contacts from the media."

Doyle Chambers declined an interview request. But Lubell, a producer who worked for Weinstein at Miramax decades ago, told me that she was manipulated into participating. In July, 2017, Lubell visited Weinstein's offices to pitch him on an app that she was developing. In the middle of the meeting, Weinstein asked Lubell if they could have a private conversation in his office. Lubell told me that a lawyer working with Weinstein was already there, along with Doyle Chambers. Weinstein asked if Lubell and Doyle Chambers could write a "fun book on the old times, the heyday, of Miramax." "Pam," she recalled him saying, "write down all the employees that you know, and can you get in touch with them?"

A few weeks later, in August, after they had made the list, Weinstein "called us back into the office," Lubell recalled. "And he said, 'You know what, we're going to put a hold on the book.' " He asked Doyle Chambers and Lubell to "call some of your friends from the list and see if they got calls from the press." In early September, Weinstein summoned Lubell and Doyle Chambers to his office and asked them to start making calls to people connected to several actresses. "It got kind of intense," Lubell recalled. "We didn't know these people, and all of a sudden this was something very different from what we signed up for." Several of the targeted women said that they felt the calls they received from Lubell and Doyle Chambers, and from Weinstein himself, were frightening.

Lubell told me that hours before the first Times story broke, on October 5th, Weinstein summoned her, Doyle Chambers, and others on his team, including the attorney Lisa Bloom, who has since resigned, to his office.

“He was in a panic,” Lubell recalled. “He starts screaming, ‘Getso-and-so on the phone.’ ” After the story was published, the team scrambled to respond to it. Bloom and others pored over pictures that, like the ones featured in the Kroll e-mails, showed ongoing contact between Weinstein and women who made allegations. “He was screaming at us, ‘Send these to the board members,’ ” Lubell recalled. She e-mailed the photographs to the board ahead of the crisis meeting at which Weinstein’s position at his company began unravelling.

Since the allegations against Weinstein became public, Lubell hasn’t slept well. She told me that, although she knew that Weinstein “was a bully and a cheater,” she “never thought he was a predator.” Lubell has wondered if she should have known more, sooner.

After a year of concerted effort, Weinstein’s campaign to track and silence his accusers crumbled. Several of the women targeted, however, said that Weinstein’s use of private security agencies deepened the challenge of speaking out. “It scared me,” Sciorra said, “because I knew what it meant to be threatened by Harvey. I was in fear of him finding me.” McGowan said that the agencies and law firms enabled Weinstein’s behavior. As she was targeted, she felt a growing sense of paranoia. “It was like the movie ‘Gaslight,’ ” she told me. “Everyone lied to me all the time.” For the past year, she said, “I’ve lived inside a mirrored fun house.”

These companies should be arrested. The Senators and Silicon Valley operatives that hired them to destroy taxpayers should be arrested!

PLACES WHERE YOU CAN FIND PROOF OF THESE CHARGES WHEREIN THE DNC USED A "GREEN CASH SCAM" TO CONDUIT CASH TO THEMSELVES AND THEIR FRIENDS VIA GOVERNMENT AGENCIES FINANCED BY THE TAXPAYERS:

Green policy and corruption | VOX, CEPR's Policy Portal

In many countries public support policies have been implemented over the past several years with the aim of promoting renewable energy, energy efficiency, and the ...

◀ voxeu.org/article/green-policy-and-corruption

NextEra: The Green Corruption Files > Hawaii Free Press

NextEra paid just $88 million in taxes on earnings of nearly $7 billion. That's a tax rate of just 1.25 percent when the statutory rate is 35 pe...

c hawaiifreepress.com/ArticlesMain/tabid/56/ID/14183/NextEra-Th...

Corruption In The Green Energy Sector Costs Ontarians

This autumn has not been kind to NextEra's Ontario operation. Some of the turbines they own in Ontario were found to be throwing objects into farmers fields during ...

< huffingtonpost.ca/john-laforet/nextera-corruption-ontario_b...

Green Corruption Goes Deep In Obama Administration

Michelle Malkin was on "Hannity" recently to discuss the corruption involved in the Solyndra solar panel company that took nearly half a billion in stimulu

< <https://www.westernjournalism.com/green-corruption-goes-deep-in-obama-admin...>

Green is the color of corruption | Human Events

Well-connected interests stand to make big bucks from Obama's War on Energy.

< humanevents.com/2013/06/27/green-is-the-color-of-corruption/

Green corruption More than "victimless" crimes | f3magazine ...

Perfect accomplice of eco-criminals, corruption allows those involved in illegal activities in the environmental field to make significant profits at the expense of ...

< f3magazine.unicri.it/?p=1128

Web of "green" corruption bigger than Oregon scandal - Shift ...

It's not often that a governor resigns in disgrace during an on-going FBI investigation, which is why Oregon Gov. John Kitzhaber's resignation has garnered ...

< <https://shiftwa.org/web-of-green-corruption-bigger-than-orego...>

Ex-Im's Green Energy Corruption Goes Deeper than Solyndra

Join the Fight for Freedom. Government goes to those who show up. FreedomWorks makes it easy to hold your elected officials accountable in our fully interactive ...

< freedomworks.org/content/ex-im's-green-energy-corruption-9...

Green - the Color of Rotten Corruption - Bob Beauprez

Within weeks of Obama's inaugural in 2009 and with the $800 billion Stimulus already passed, the green-energy community was euphoric that the new administration ...

↳

<https://finance.townhall.com/columnists/bobbeauprez/2012/02/27/green--...>

CLEAN ENERGY; DIRTY MONEY; GREEN CORRUPTION... - The eBay ...

http://greencorruption.blogspot.com/2014/06/clean-energy-dirty-money-green.html?m=1 Corruption and dirty money will be the down fall of Rome...sorry < rover.ebay.com/rover/1/711-53200-19255-0/1?icep_ff3=2&pu...

More Obama Green Energy Corruption - Marita Noon

The previous green-energy crony-corruption column unraveled SolarReserve and its share of "meaningful" political connections -
- Citigroup, a major investor in ...

↳

<https://finance.townhall.com/columnists/maritanoon/2012/07/06/more-oba...>

Green corruption - More than "victimless" crimes \(PDF Download ...

Official Full-Text Paper (PDF): Green corruption - More than "victimless" crimes

<

https://www.researchgate.net/publication/312438250_Green_corruption - ...

GREEN CORRUPTION: The Five Circles Of Carbon Tax Hell - Home ...

Photo courtesy of Andy Semple and Steve Hunter. GREEN ENERGY CHRONICLES. John's newest update on graft, corruption and waste in the CLEAN energy sector.

< dailybail.com/home/green-corruption-the-five-circles-of...

Varsity Green: A Behind the Scenes Look at Culture and ...

Amazon.com: Varsity Green: A Behind the Scenes Look at Culture and Corruption in College Athletics (9780804769693): Mark Yost: Books

< https://www.amazon.com/Varsity-Green-Corruption-Athletic...

Green Is The Color Of Corruption - Western Journalism

President Obama's declaration of dictatorial, Congress-be-damned war on "climate change" was particularly welcome to hedge-fund billionaire and megabucks O

< <https://www.westernjournalism.com/green-is-the-color-of-corruption/>

Energy Projects and Corruption in Georgia

ENERGY PROJECTS AND CORRUPTION IN GEORGIA. The report has been prepared by Green Alternative with the support of Open Society Georgia Foundation within < greenalt.org/wp-content/uploads/2013/12/Energy_Project...

Tom Steyer's Deep Ties to Oregon Corruption Scandal

Top advisers to the billionaire environmentalist Tom Steyer helped run a green group, financed in part by Steyer himself, that is at the center of a corruption ...

< freebeacon.com/issues/tom-steyers-deep-ties-to-oregon-co...

Climate change funds: safe from corruption? - Transparency ...

Climate change funds: safe from corruption? ... As the funds increase the scale of their disbursements, and the mammoth Green Climate Fund begins to operate, ...

< transparency.org/news/feature/climate_change_funds_safe fr...

The Big Green Con -- About the Green Corruption Files ...

The most comprehensive Fusion Energy website for fusion & plasma science, research, project management, academic journal articles, videos, fusion politics, news, and ...

↳ fusion4freedom.us/about-gcf/

The Green Corruption Files

So, this Green Corruption File, while not a green energy story, will take you on that tragic journey -- with a special emphasis on The Caracol Industrial Park: ...

< greencorruption.blogspot.com.br

Green Energy, Corruption, Reform Conservatism, and the Size of ...

Remember Solyndra, the festering symbol of green-energy corruption that resulted in hundreds of millions of dollars of taxpayer money being flushed down the toilet?

↳ unitedliberty.org/articles/19104-green-energy-corruption-re...

Public Corruption — FBI

Public corruption is the FBI's top criminal investigative priority, ... A person who is neither a citizen nor a green card holder gives money to a federal, ...

< <https://www.fbi.gov/investigate/public-corruption>

Campaigners warn of climate finance corruption risk

Campaigners warn of climate finance corruption risk. ... The Green Climate Fund refuses to disclose the names of entities applying to distribute its funds until they ...

← climatechangenews.com/2015/07/29/campaigners-warn-of-climate-fi...

Obama's Green-Energy, Crony-Corruption - Marita Noon

The vast majority of the green energy loan guarantees were given to companies that could not obtain enough financial backing from private investors..10/20/2017 11:34 ...

↳

[https://townhall.com/columnists/maritanoon/2012/06/29/obama
s-g...](https://townhall.com/columnists/maritanoon/2012/06/29/obama-s-g...)

Andrew Cuomo's Buffalo Billion scheme: Green energy corruption in NY ...

The Buffalo Billion project is a "symbol" of the political promises and crony corruption that takes taxpayers dollars to reward political donors and then walks

c stridentconservative.com/andrew-cuomos-buffalo-billion-scheme-gree...

More Obama Green Energy Corruption - Marita Noon

As featured in the introduction, here is a quick overview of BrightSource's green-energy crony-corruption Story: BrightSource Energy has a three-unit power system ...

↳

<https://townhall.com/columnists/maritanoon/2012/07/06/more-oba...>

Greencorruption : The Green Corruption Files | Exposing the largest ...

The Green Corruption Files | Exposing the largest, most expensive and deceptive case of crony capitalism in American history...

↳ greencorruption.com.cutestat.com

Green Energy Corruption: Gone With The Wind - Daily Bail

Thank you, Daily Bail and John, for providing this opportunity "Green Energy Corruption". The public has the right to know the unvarnished truth as it is ...

< dailybail.com/home/green-energy-corruption-gone-with-th...

Small businesses claim US government stealing their ideas ...

Dec 17, 2013 · John Hnatio, a Maryland small business owner, says the U.S. government has put his company, FoodquestTQ, nearly out of business by stealing his firm's ...

◁ foxnews.com/politics/2013/12/17/small-businesses-clai...

Small businesses claim U.S. government stealing their ideas ...

"They stole all my stuff and used taxpayer money to do it," John Hnatio, a Maryland small business owner, says of the U.S. government. Hnatio claims...

< <https://www.orangepower.com/threads/small-businesses-claim-u-s>

Congress: Trading stock on inside information? - CBS News

Steve Kroft reports that members of Congress can legally trade stock based on non-public information from Capitol ... For example insider trading on the stock market.

< <https://www.cbsnews.com/news/congress-trading-stock-on>

Congress Cashes in on Insider Trading | Represent.Us

Congress Cashes in on Insider Trading. In 2011, a CBS investigation blew the lid off of one of Washington's most poorly-kept secrets: members of Congress were ...

< <https://represent.us/action/insider-trading/>

Doctors, Drug Companies, Politicians & Corruptions | CCHR ...

CCHR International News; Videos; Issues ... is spent on bribing ... profits part of which are used to buy off politicians and further promote themselves as ...

< <https://www.cchrnt.org/2010/08/20/doctors-drug-companies-politi>

How Money Poisons Our Politics - POLITICO Magazine

South Carolinians curbed special interest influence by banning registered lobbyists from donating to politicians. And in Washington, ...

< <https://www.politico.com/magazine/story/2015/10/how-mon>

Keeping It In the Family: Senator Feinstein's Husband Stands ...

Senator Dianne Feinstein has long been accused of corruption and unethical behavior in Congress. From going after the Second Amendment to making tens of < thedailysheep.com/keeping-it-in-the-family-senator-feinstei...

Feinstein Corruption Case : LA IMC

Feinstein Resignation - U.S. Senator Feinstein resigns from MILCON Appropriations suncommittee due to corruption.

Feinstein approved billions of dollars of defense ...

< <https://la.indymedia.org/news/2007/03/196025.php>

Feinstein's Husband Co. to Bag \$1 Billion for Government Deal

Sen. Dianne Feinstein's husband, Richard Blum, could bag $1 billion in commissions for his company from a government plan to sell 56 US Postal Service buildings.

< breitbart.com/big-government/2015/01/17/sen-feinsteins-...

Google's Remarkably Close Relationship With the Obama White ...

The Android Administration ... He's hardly the first to suggest that the Obama administration has become too close to the Silicon Valley juggernaut.

< <https://theintercept.com/2016/04/22/googles-remarkably-close-re>

THE SILICON COUP: HOW GOOGLE TOOK OVER THE WHITE HOUSE - How Pelosi, Feinstein, Harris & Brown got Google kickbacks

The Silicon Coup. THE SILICON COUP: HOW GOOGLE TOOK OVER THE WHITE HOUSE. Home A Corruption Bibliography Agencies ADDITIONAL APPENDIX DATA New Page THE SILICON

...

c thesiliconcoup.weebly.com

The Senator's Lie: How Political Pretexts Work

By Deborah Lewis – St. Louis Digital News

When corrupt politicians want to rape the taxpayers and put your taxes in their pockets they create what is known as a "pretext"

Here are some common political "pretexts":

"Hate Speech" = We thought we controlled the news but now the public has found out about our crimes so we need this excuse to help Google, Twitter and Facebook censor any news about our crimes

"Black Lives Matter" = The DNC needs to get Blacks to vote Democrat so they can swell the voter rolls so that Dianne

Feinstein and her husband can steal more money in crony DNC deals

“Open Borders” = The DNC needs to get Browns to vote Democrat so they can swell the voter rolls so that Dianne Feinstein and her husband can steal more money in crony DNC deals and Mark Zuckerberg needs this cheap labor

“Reduce Regulations” = Bankers want to do whatever they want and so to hell with the public

There are many Political Pretexts under way currently, but the one that has cost American taxpayers the most money is the “War on Terror”. That is a six trillion dollar loss to date with an expenditure of $250 million per day. U.S. Senators make stock market profits off of it! It is followed closely by the “War on Drugs”. These two wars may have stopped some bad things but the federal budget folks call most of that money a “loss”. The only winners were the Senators who put the stock market profits from those efforts in their families bank accounts and trust funds.

The biggest, most criminally corrupt pretext in history is called the “Green Cash Crash”. The highest level politicians from Washington, DC, New York, Nevada, California and Vermont joined a cabal which raped the taxpayers of their rights, their money, their companies, their votes, and their jobs under the guise of “saving Polar bears”.

The Green Cash Crash was put together by Silicon Valley billionaires and the politicians that they had in their pockets: Kamala Harris, Dianne Feinstein, Al Gore, Harry Reid, Steven Chu, Matt Rogers, Jerry Brown, Ken Alex, Nancy Pelosi, Barbara Boxer, Hillary Clinton, and that gang of political prostitutes. These corrupt politicians put the Green Cash scam together and put billions of dollars of profit in their bank accounts from it. The taxpayers LOST billions of dollars from it!

The "Paradise Papers Leaks", The "Panama Papers Leaks" and Congressional investigations now prove these assertions to be true!

These politicians pocketed billions of dollars in personal stock market, search rigging and cash profits while causing their constituents to lose billions of dollars to their monopolistic Cartel. They controlled the cover-up by using their ownership of the main stream news, Hollywood and Google/Facebook/Twitter's lock-up of the internet.

CBS News 60 Minutes TV Show did some segments about how their scam worked. The segments were called "The Lobbyists Playbook", "Congress Trading on Insider Information" and "The Cleantech Crash". When you watch all 3 of these segments on the CBS website, one after the other, you will be sickened by the audacious criminal culture that these politicians have built for themselves.

In 2006 these politicians decided that they could control who would be President by using Google/Facebook/Twitter to manipulate Obama and then Clinton into office. As we all now know, Obama and Clinton had made some dirty mining deals with Russians, worth trillions of dollars, and they promised the exclusives on those deals to Silicon Valley's billionaire owners of Google/Facebook/Twitter/Tesla/Solyndra, etc.

The pretext that the Obama and Clinton insiders had agreed to was that "everybody will die from Earthquakes and 1000 foot high walls of water if we don't change the climate". You have now seen proof in the news that government scientists were ordered to make up data that would sell this story in order to put cash in these politicians pockets.

You have now seen proof in the news that Obama and Clinton's personal friends were the only ones who were ever allowed to receive the government cash that would stop this fictional 1000 foot high wall of water.

Thousands of companies offered solutions to stop the apocalypse of "sad Polar bears" and "water walls", but, for some strange and ironic reason, the only ones that ever got funding to save those Polar bears happened to be the best friends of the politicians. In an even more ironic turn of events, the handful of companies that got the money to save the Polar bears (ie: Tesla, Solyndra, Abound, Ener1, Fisker) just happened to have their stock owned by those very same politicians. In an even stranger coincidence, many of these politicians had been doing business with Russian mobsters!

Isn't that the most amazing coincidence in history?

To be crystal clear: Kamala Harris, Dianne Feinstein, Al Gore, Harry Reid, Steven Chu, Matt Rogers, Jerry Brown, Ken Alex, Nancy Pelosi, Barbara Boxer, Hillary Clinton, and that gang of political prostitutes made up a story about an emergency that never existed so that they could take billions of your tax dollars and put it in their own pockets.

They used a "magic mirror" trick. They said "Look over here at me waving my hands to save this cute Polar bear..." "...you wouldn't question saving a cute Polar bear would you?" ...and, as they pathetically waved their hands on one side of the mirror, they passed your money to their friends and stock-brokers on the other side of the mirror, where you could not see it being done.

These people are criminal whores who lied to you and stole your money and your America.

Demand that they be arrested!

See more at:

<http://www.icij.org>

<http://www.googleinvestigations.com>

<http://www.outloud.biz>

Or just put the following terms in any non-google search engines (ie:

www.duckduckgo.com, www.searx.me, etc.): "Cleantech Crash",

"Green Corruption", "Senators trading on inside information",

"Feinstein Corruption", "Solyndra corruption, "Uranium1 corruption", "Seth Rich", "Awan Brothers", "Podesta corruption",

Crony Feinsten corruption", "Crony Pelosi corruption" "Death of Gary D. Conley", "Death of Rajeev Motwani", "Arkancide", and related terms

CALL THE FBI, CONGRESS, THE NEWS MEDIA AND ALL OF THEIR SPONSORS AND DEMAND ARRESTS AND STOP VOTING FOR THEM. BOYCOTT THEIR SPONSORS AND FINANCIERS!