Cops Raid City Council President's Hom After He Exposed Their Corruption

Days after a city council president motioned for an audit of the local department, his home was mysteriously raided by police.

By Jack Burns -

Tweet

Masontown, PA – When the president of the city council learned about theft committed by the local police and began calling for an audit of the department over "seemingly corrupt and unethical"