

First of Its Kind University Study Prove Without a Doubt that Your Phone is Spying On You

A massive year-long study has recently concluded which proves that you are recording what you do and sharing this information with others

By Matt Agorist -

Spread the love

Tweet

For years, conspiracy theories about smart phones listening to users without their permission to show them advertisements have abounded. While some researchers have shown this could happen,