A Tesla driver was killed and nine others were injured in an eight-car crash on I-95 in Miami early Thursday morning. Florida Highway Patrol officers say the deadly crash occurred just before 2.30am when the Tesla driver lost control of his vehicle and slammed into a concrete wall. The car came to a stop near an intersection, where it was struck by an oncoming Dodge sedan, sending the unnamed driver flying from his car. An oncoming white Nissan then slowed down in an attempt to avoid running over the man, but was struck from behind by a Chevy SUV. It was then forced forward and ran over the Tesla driver.

The Tesla driver was forced from his vehicle and was run over by an oncoming white Nissan, which was then struck from behind

According to Florida Highway Patrol Lt. Alex Camacho, the driver of a black Tesla sedan lost control and collided with a concrete barrier.

When the car came to a rest, authorities said, the Tesla was blocking a nearby road, and was struck by an oncoming black Dodge sedan.

The impact of the collision sent the Tesla driver, who has only been identified as a black adult male, flying out of his car and he landed on the roadway.

An oncoming white Nissan then slowed down in an attempt to avoid running over the man, but was struck from behind by a Chevy SUV.

The Nissan was then forced forward, NBC Miami reported, and ran over the Tesla driver.

A series of minor crashes then ensued between the Chevy SUV, the Nissan sedan, a white Jeep SUV, a tow truck and a gray Jeep SUV.

Authorities say the crash began when the Tesla driver lost control of his vehicle and slammed into a concrete wall

It remains unclear whether the Tesla was self-driving or if the driver was under the influence of drugs or alcohol at the time.

DailyMail.com has reached out to the Florida Highway Patrol for more information.

Following the crash, the southbound lanes of I-95 were closed for hours as debris was strewn across the interstate and officers worked to investigate the crash.

The closure snarled the morning commute for hours, before I-95 was reopened to traffic at around 9am.
