National Call To Ticket Arrogant Tesla Drivers For Pulling Off Their Front License Plates

It is no secret the local communities make big bucks from traffic tickets.

It is also no secret that most normal people think that anybody who drives a Tesla is an elitist "douchebag" or an A-hole. Tesla owners like to think that not having a license plate on the front of their Tesla's makes their cars look more like a penis, when, in fact, it makes the Tesla drivers look more like a wennie.

Now, these two disparate forces have found a shared nexus.

The douchebag Tesla drivers have an agreed upon insider rule to always pull off their front license plate or not install it when they get it.

That is illegal.

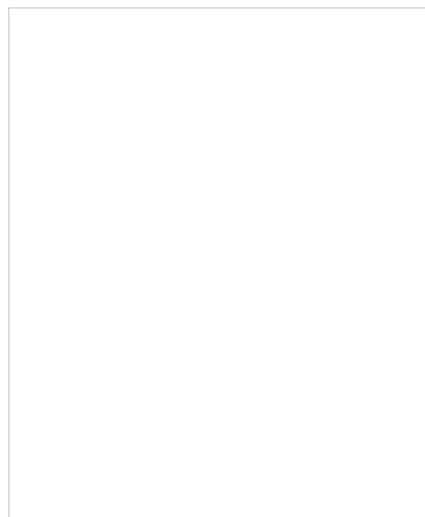

Most states now require all dealers to sell, and display the Tesla with a front license plate frame installed.

It is illegal, almost everywhere, to drive your Tesla without a front license plate.

If you see a Tesla driver acting "Douche" and driving around without a front plate, get their license number off of their back plate and report them.

There is no reason that civic duty and A-hole hating can't work hand-in-hand
