

PEOPLE FLEEING 'SHIT-HOLE' SAN FRANCISCO IN DROVES AS CALIFORNIA FRACTURES WITH U.S.

| BY DONN MARTEN

SF Homosexual ANTIFA TERROR GROUP "Al-Queerda" is 'The Last Straw'

They may be leaving their hearts in San Francisco but an increasing number of people are choosing to get the hell out of the socialist utopia by the bay and a sanctuary city that values illegal alien murderers more than its actual citizens.

In a bit of news that should really come as no great shock to anyone who understands what a shithole that liberal-infested California has become, San Fran residents are bolting in the highest numbers in over a decade.

Not only is the cost of housing astronomical but the streets stink of urine and vomit due to being filled with vagrants, illegal immigrants are treated like royalty and the city and state government is has become a one-party totalitarian dictatorship, but it is still sodomite city USA.

Then there is the message sent by a jury that allowed a scummy criminal illegal who shot an innocent woman in Kate Steinle walk free to send a political message to President Trump.

Nice place isn't it.

Not according to those making the exodus.

San Francisco Bay Area Experiences Mass Exodus Of Residents

The number of people packing up and moving out of the Bay Area just hit its highest level in more than a decade.

sanfrancisco.cbslocal.com

♡ 14 💬 23 people are talking about this

Via San Francisco CBS affiliate KPIX-5 “San Francisco Bay Area Experiences Mass Exodus Of Residents”:

The number of people packing up and moving out of the Bay Area just hit its highest level in more than a decade.

Carole Dabak spent 40 years living in San Jose and now she's part of the mass exodus that is showing no signs of slowing down.

The retired engineer's packing up and calling it quits about to move to the state of Tennessee.

“I loved it here when I first got here. I really loved it here. But it's just not the same,” Dabak said.

Of course people come and go from the Bay Area all the time, but for the first time in a long time, more people are leaving the Bay Area than are coming in.

And the number one place in the country for out-migration is now, right here.

Russell Hancock with Joint Venture Silicon Valley said, "Silicon Valley has been this place that is growing. And it was mostly growing because...people relocating here and relocating from other parts of the world. That's changing."

Joint Venture Silicon Valley's own study of the out-migration says workers are moving to Sacramento, Austin, and Portland due to a number of factors. But topping the list is the high cost of housing.

"You can't even contemplate getting into the housing market here," Hancock said. "And I don't mean just service workers, I mean highly skilled professionals. The tech elite are having a hard time affording reasonable housing in Silicon Valley. So this is difficult, this makes it very difficult for employers trying to recruit."

Operators of a San Jose U-Haul business say one of their biggest problems is getting its rental moving vans back because so many are on a one-way ticket out of town.

Dabak cites crowding, crime and politics as the reasons for her own exodus.

"We don't like it here anymore. You know, we don't like this sanctuary state status and just the politics here," she said.

This is only the beginning too because the state of California is only going to become more fanatically liberal because politicians and liberal celebs just flat out reject the concept of the Electoral College.

An advance warning for more people to flee was given by a recent story in the Washington Post.

Via the WaPo "Think California politics is on the far-left fringe? Just wait for the next elections":

For those who think California politics is on the far-left fringe of the national spectrum, stand by. The next election season, already well underway here, will showcase a younger generation of Democrats that is more liberal and personally invested in standing up to President Trump's Washington than those leaving office.

Here in the self-labeled "state of resistance," the political debate is being pushed further left without any sign of a Republican renaissance to serve as a check on spending and social policy ambitions. Even some Republicans are concerned about the departure of Gov. Jerry Brown (D), who proved to be fiscally cautious after inheriting a state seven years ago in deep recession.

The race to succeed him, as well as contests for U.S. Senate and statewide offices, probably will feature a November ballot exclusively filled with Democrats. The top two primary finishers compete in the state's general election regardless of party, setting up several races between the Democrats' left and even-more-left wings in the nation's most-populous state, races that could signal the direction of the party's future.

Why wait for the CalExit? That the hell out now while the getting's good!

So the unintended consequences of this is that they are moving to my neck of the woods. The same $1,000,000 house in the bay area literally cost $200,000 here. This will inevitably raise housing prices here, which can be good or bad depending on if you already own, or are a first time home buyer.

The biggest issue I see here is that most of the people that are fleeing California in general are still liberals. So they kind of fit in when they move to the urban areas.

I was at the gas pump not too long ago with the old Chevy loaded up for a day of phunn in the hills wearing a mild case of tactical gear and was openly carrying (which I almost never do, except I just needed a splash of gas) and the car next to me had Cali plates on it. I said a nice little hello, and I guess they assumed I was law enforcement when they mentioned they had never seen an unmarked police vehicle like mine before.

I said, "No, I just live down the street and a few of my buddies are going shooting and practicing some tactical drills," I don't think I have ever saw a face go white faster than theirs. They noticeably picked up the pace of getting in the car and driving away.

Maybe that's the way to scare them off, I don't know.....

Brother, the mass exodus from BOTH Left coasts into fly-country in MANY cases isn't unintentional. And it's been going on for some time now with little attention as possible paid to it. Similar to the necessary influx of migrants from "sh*t-hole" countries everywhere invading the United States, unabated for decades but has drastically increased in recent years, the movements and relocations too are equally as strategic. The aim is indeed to turn red states blue. A "saturation effect" is being achieved basically. But even more sinister efforts than just that are

On the surface, below it and at its core, the Left is evil. As we all know.

There is a deliberate alignment taking place here. All should be concerned and highly aware.

(PS - Loved your story! 👍👍)

That's funny! Where you at in TN? My (now deceased) (maternal) Grandparents lived in Mt Pleasant. I spent a youthful years near Murfreesboro. Grandpa used to buy a BMW motorcycle in the spring, ride on only the most perf days, put a couple thousand miles on it, then trade it in o one the next spring. We went out a few times and shot hi revolvers. That was all a long time ago.

No, they stick around, but tend to migrate to the urban areas that they are used to. The town I live in is relatively small by their standards so you don't run into too

It is refreshing though when I do run across a Cali transplant that isn't scared to death at the sight of a carrying a firearm. It just doesn't happen very often.

Not too long ago I happen to witness a conversation between one of our managers and an angry customer because she saw another customer openly carrying a 1911. She was concerned what kind of impression it would make to children. I bit my lip and walked away.

Right after that I was leaving and the store I work at has a gas station right off of I-5 (the main interstate between Canada and Mexico) and I went to fill 'er up and noticed the same customer bitching to one of the attendants, why we don't run out to her car and pump gas for her and she was irritated that she had to ask someone to do it.

My next thought..... Cali plates.

Nailed it.....

I so wanted to say something to this person, like, "If don't like it here, don't bother coming here, and please ever move here....." But I was irritated enough already knew that would just not be the right thing to do, plus what I do..

I didn't realize full service gas stations existed anymore? She wants equal rights basically to be treated like a man but she wanted a man to pump gas? STUPID 🚗

Ha ha!! In Oregon it's fu@king illegal to pump your own gas!! When you pull up to get fuel in that : you're supposed to wait until someone does it

However, on the rare occasion that I need to get fueled up in Oregon, I just hop out and start the pump process.

Then if they say something after I didn't have time for someone to do it for me I just ask for them to call the boss or the cops. Pick one....

Why is it illegal to pump your own gas? Did someone start the gas challenge, like they did the Tide pod challenge?

That's the law in Oregon. Evidently someone probably spilled a couple drops of gas at some point so they passed a law that you can't pump your own fuel.

I recall reading that the vehicle towing dead castro, the commi trailer broke down en route to the recycling center.

How can this be? What of excellence in central guvamint? If or listens to fake snews and infamous politicians, one has the imp that socialism/communism has succeeded everywhere. Sure! : Americans cling to outdated capitalism and democracy.

Btw, it was s.fran that was banning outdoor grills but take a du wherever you'd like, someone will clean-up after you.
