

San Francisco in one photograph: Rich liberals sip $30 glasses of wine as they watch the city burn

I lived there, in North Beach for more than a decade. I recently left, and feel such a sense of relief. I can't turn this into a joke since I know that place, but this caption isn't far off. These people will continue to look at all the shit they vote for, and watch how it went wrong, blame someone else, and double down on their bullshit. Fuck that place. They deserve the shit that's coming to them.

You have no concept of rich. $30 is the tip to the bartender for a glass of expensive wine.

The vista is OK, but what about the dirt, the poor and the crimes in the streets?

I used to like to go to tiburon, drink, and hope to see it all burn.
