Whole neighbourhoods gone in Turkey and San Francisco is NEXT: Aerial images reveal shocking devastation of mega quake in Turkey as UN warns of aid failure in Syria and earthquake death toll passes 33,000

Shocking aerial photos captured over Turkey show buildings collapsed to the ground and barely-standing structures after earthquakes shook the country and killed at least 33,000. Two substantial tremors, each with a magnitude of well over seven, demolished tens of thousands of buildings throughout Turkey early on Monday, leaving thousands dead in the south and in Syria's northeast. Photos taken today revealed that mounds of debris has covered the streets of Hatay, a hard-hit Turkish city located close to the centre of the quakes. Rescue crews are scouring piles of concrete and metal for trapped survivors, demanding silence as they sift through the rubble with thermal cameras. The rescuers reported finding more survivors, but the death toll expected to rise as the rubble of thousands of buildings has yet to be cleared.
